Chased by a Bullet.
It was in a well known hotel in Bangor. A party of gentlemen were conversing on one subject and another. During a lull in the conversation one gentleman noticed a scar on the hand of another, and interrogated him as to the cause. The other answered that he received it in a very curious way, and told the following story in regard to it:

I got that wound in the battle of Gettysburg. I had been fighting all day and felt very tired, and so sat down on a rock and shot from there. I was just loading up my gun when a long, lean, lank fellow darted by me, making for the woods like a streak of greased lightning. I up with my gun and let drive at him, but he didn't drop, and as I had shot just 999 and didn't want to lose the thousandth, I started after him.

I never saw a man run so fast in all my adventurous life, and I could see that I was gaining upon him, but every once in a while I lost sight of him behind a tree or rock. I noticed a lull in the fight, and glancing aside I saw that both armies had stopped fighting and were straining their eyes to see the race.

That raised my courage, and I forgot all about being tired. Just then I made a spurt of speed, and as I did so I felt something strike my hand which spread out like the fan of a windmill.

Well, to make a long story short, I caught up with him and was about to collar him when he turned about and tried to stab me. I dodged his blow, and just then something hit him and he fell over dead.

I sat down beside him to rest, and as I did so noticed blood trickling down my hand. On closer investigation I found that there was a bullet hole in the palm. The dead man had a bullet hole in his breast, and I am positive in my belief that both wounds were made by the same bullet, and that it was the same bullet that I had fired at the Confederate. The race was so hot that I caught up with and passed it at some time during my chase. That is why I now wear that scar.—Bangor News.

He Could Sympathize.
I was walking along a street given over to the smallest of shops and almost the cheapest of restaurants, when I met a good looking ten-year-old boy in shabby, respectable clothes.

It was autumn, and I carried a bunch of flaming, splendid maple leaves. He stopped, as if the sight of them really took his breath away.

"Oh, give me one," he gently exclaimed, in a manner that was more than polite. It lifted our interview straightway into some rare, superhuman atmosphere, where perfect simplicity became a matter of course. Unfortunately this was not so becoming to me as to him.

I said, "Oh, I hate to!" but at the same time I began looking for the meanest little leaf I could find. When I had discovered and was presenting it, shame overcame me, and torn with conflicting emotions, I said:

"I know I'm being horridly stingy." "Never mind," said my boy, in a big, masculine, comforting manner. "I know just how you feel." He smiled his thanks reassuringly, and we parted never to meet again. I declare, I could write a sad little poem about it this minute.—Atlantic Monthly.

Man Must Have a Cook.

Man always needs a cook. A college professor, bereft of his wife, who had done his housework for years, engaged a cook at greater wages than had been the allowance he gave his wife. He bargained for punctuality. "I must have my dinner at 12," he stated. "I can't get it ready till 1 o'clock," she answered. He yielded and changed the hour of his college recitation. The next week she demanded a new stove, as the old one was too low. "It costs too much," he expostulated. "I can't afford to hurt my back," she replied. He knew it was not so easy to find another good cook, and bought the stove. A week later she desired him to send for the carpenter that the back staircase might be changed. Then he dismissed her and became a boarder. Which was the cheaper thing to do?—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Emmett's Presence of Mind.
A story is told of Robert Emmet which proved his secretive power and resolution. He was fond of studying chemistry, and one night late, after the family had gone to bed, he swallowed a large quantity of corrosive sublimate in mistake for some acid cooling powder. He immediately discovered his mistake and knew that death must shortly ensue unless he instantly swallowed the only antidote, chalk.

Timid men would have torn at the bell, roused all the family and sent for a stomach pump. Emmet called no one, made no noise, but, stealing down stairs and unlocking the front door, went into the stable, scraped some chalk which he knew to be there and took sufficient doses of it to neutralize the poison.—New York World.

Nitrogen as an Anesthetic.
The use of nitrogen as an anesthetic was recently successfully tried in England. Nine patients took the gas, and in every case the result was the production of complete anesthesia. The pulse was first full and throbbing, then feeble. In the advanced stage the respiration was deep and rapid, and there was lividity of the surface, the pupils were dilated, and there was more or less inaction of the limbs.—New York Times.

GOVERNMENT FINANCING.

For some years past and up to the time the Billion Dollar Congress made appropriations for subsidies, public buildings and one thing or another for almost every State north of Mason & Dixon's line, excepting poor Nevada, the Government paid a premium of from twenty-five per cent. for bonds. As the Congressional appropriations depleted the Treasury and disposed of the surplus, the bonds which mature next September, some of which were bought in at a premium, as stated, cannot be redeemed, even at a discount, because there are no funds in the Treasury applicable for the purpose. Commenting upon this condition of affairs, the Philadelphia Times, edited by Colonel Alexander K. McClure, the personal and political friend of Abraham Lincoln, says:

"By all the long accepted rules of presenting the condition of the Treasury, it is literally bankrupt now; but the practically unavailable assets in banks for Government disbursing agents, of subsidiary silver coin and the fund for de-lated notes are grouped as available cash in the Treasury statement, and by the aid of the forced loan from the bank-note trust fund, the omission of accrued interest and striking out claims which may never be presented for payment, Secretary Foster pretends to have a cash balance of nearly fifty millions.

"This method of financing would disgrace an Ohio dry goods merchant if he attempted it in presenting his assets to his creditors; but Secretary Foster is so unwilling to confess that the Billion Congress and the Administration have bankrupted the Treasury, that he attempts the most grotesque figure-work in the vain effort to deceive the people.

"The plain truth is that the Billion Congress and the Administration have scattered a surplus of over one hundred millions; have forced a loan of fifty odd millions from a sacred trust fund; have increased taxes on most of the actual necessities of life, and have brought the National Treasury to the verge of bankruptcy. The Billion Congress did it and the Administration huzzaned in the procession of profligates."

OHIO'S RAIN MAKER.

Frank Melbourne of Canton, Ohio, claims to be able to produce rain at will by artificial means. On several occasions he has given notice from a week to ten days in advance that rain would fall on a certain day, and his predictions have been verified seven times out of eight, the failure having been caused, it is alleged, by reason of a broken machine. What the machine is he takes care to conceal from the public. He has written to the Government concerning his invention, by means of which he claims to be able to cause rain to fall over an area of 250,000 square miles at any time he may desire without regard to the climate. The Agricultural Department has replied to his communication, requesting him, as a starting point, to prove what he claims. So far Melbourne has not yet furnished this proof, though a Dr. Raedall, of Canton, corroborates his assertions.

It seems incredible that by means of a machine, said to be used in a building, rain can be caused to fall at any time and it may be that the fulfillment of Melbourne's predictions are merely coincidences. If the rain resulted from other than natural causes, Melbourne ought to have no difficulty in establishing the fact, if not in Ohio, certainly in the arid regions of the West, which he can reach by rain in a few days.

Congress appropriated several thousand dollars for the purpose of making experiments in artificial rain making. If there be any proof that rain fell at the time indicated by Melbourne, it would not be unreasonable to expend a part of that appropriation in testing his ability to produce rain at will. He may, however, be only a crank or a confidence man, and his so-called invention of no more practical value than the Keely motor.

The American Glucose Company of Buffalo, New York, has followed the example of the United States Government at the Carson Mint and made a reduction of ten per cent. in the wages of employees. It is not stated whether the glucose business is as profitable to the company as the coining of silver at Carson has been to the Government. Henceforth when a corporation cuts the wages of employees ten per cent., it can point to this "great and glorious" Administration as having set the example, and that in a business on which it made a profit of thirty cents on every dollar coined.

The G. A. R. Encampment Will Meet To-day.

Special to the Journal.

DETROIT, Mich., August 3.—The Twenty-fifth Annual Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will formally open to-morrow forenoon. Commander-in-Chief Veazy will head the line of march, and review 40,000 or 50,000 veterans as they pass before a magnificent reviewing stand on Woodward Avenue. To-day has been reception day of the encampment. It is estimated there are 80,000 visitors in the city to-night, but the great crowd is not expected until to-morrow morning. There is a strong friendly rivalry in the race for the position of National Commander-in-Chief. The leading candidate is Colonel Weissert of Milwaukee. The fight for the location of the next encampment is between Washington, D. C., and Lincoln, Neb., with the chances favoring the former. No arrivals created more excitement to-day than the Georgia and Florida Departments. There were one hundred and fifty in the latter delegation. One car of their train was filled with the products of Florida, from a live crocodile ten feet in length to a bunch of seaweed. They had watermelons in great profusion, banana trees in blossom, olive and orange trees and any quantity of phosphate. Ex-President Rutherford B. Hayes, Commander-in-Chief of the Order of the Loyal Legion, arrived from Ohio to-day. He was met by a local delegation of Loyal Legion, and was tendered a reception this evening. Mississippi will revive the color fight in the encampment. Charles F. Fink, Assistant Quartermaster-General of this Department, said to-day: "We have come up to this encampment to make a fight on the color line. We object to colored members of the G. A. R., and want them formed into a separate colonization. In the South there are any number of colored members of the G. A. R. who are not thirty years old. They swarm in our ports and a white man has no show. We will not associate with them, and if the present convention does not do something to relieve the Southern pests of this growing trouble, while G. A. R. veterans will withdraw." Commander-in-Chief Veazy to-night declined to discuss the "color" dispute and was disposed to minimize the importance of the question in controversy.

A Revolutionary Attempt.

Special to the Journal.

BARCELONA, August 3.—Great excitement was caused in this city last night by what was for a time believed to be a revolutionary movement on the part of the Republican party, but which subsequently was believed to be a desperate attempt upon the part of certain speculators on the Bourse to bring about a decline in the prices of securities dealt in upon the Exchange. A band of fifteen men, armed with rifles and revolvers, cautiously approached the Government building and attempted to surprise the guards, it being their intention to force their way into the barracks.

The sentries discovered the approach of the men and ordered them to halt. The men made a rush upon the sentries, trusting that in the confusion which would follow that they could force their way into the barracks. As they ran toward the sentries they delivered a volley from their weapons and some of the guards fell to the ground wounded. The other sentries, however, answered the volley with a fusillade from their rifles. For a short time a regular battle was fought and a number on both sides were wounded. Meantime officers stationed at the barracks summoned the troops to arms and in a very short time the attacking party was surrounded, resistance being useless, and the whole party was placed under arrest. They will be tried by court-martial and the chances are they will be shot.

The persons arrested are Federal Republicans, which justified the belief that the affair was a genuine revolutionary attempt on the part of the Republicans.

Two of the Counterfeiters Escape From Jail.

Special to the Journal.

ASHLAND, Or., August 3.—Eliza Coon and Fay Coon, two of the self-confessed counterfeiters who were held here awaiting to be taken to Portland by the Deputy United States Marshal, and who are also wanted at Oakland, California, on the same charge, escaped from the Ashland City jail last evening by prying out one of the iron window bars. Thus far no trace of their whereabouts has been found, they having evidently taken to the mountains to get out of the country. Two other members of the gang, Young Natt and father, have been in custody at Grant's Pass, and were taken to Portland.

The Pine Nut Excitement.

Special to the Journal.

CARSON, August 3.—Oliver Roberts leaves to-night for San Francisco with specimens of gold from Pine Nut. His stage line made the trip to-day with five passengers, Wm. Blackman driver. More miners are waiting to-night to take the next stage. The gold specimens are to be exhibited at the report office of the Stock Exchange.

A Coal Oil Lamp Explodes and Destroys A Church.

Special to the Journal.

FRESCOTT, A. T., August 3.—Just after services had commenced last night in the Methodist Church here, a large coal oil lamp was seen burning too high when a member of the congregation attempted to regulate the flame. In doing so the lamp of burning oil was upset on the carpet causing a conflagration, destroying the church building.

Before the lamp was discovered it had become so heated that the top was melted off. Overturning, the burning oil spilt on the clothing of a man named Sharp, who was seated immediately under it. He rushed through the congregation with the flames running up his back higher than his head, several ladies having a narrow escape from their clothing igniting. Henry Evans, a member, was considerably burned, in assisting Sharp to get his burning coat off. The latter's back and head was considerably burned. Several persons made their escape through the windows, among them being a soprano, a member of the choir, who was slightly injured. No other casualty happened, although a panic occurred. The egress through one door of the Church was prevented on account the lamp falling in the aisle immediately in front of it. The flames spread so rapidly that only a few seats in the rear of the church were saved. All the other furniture and books were destroyed.

The Immigration Commission and the Mormons.

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, August 3.—Dispatches from the United States Immigration Commission, now in Europe, to the Treasury Department state that in an interview between the Commissioners and the Mormon Elder in charge of the Mormon emigrants at Liverpool, that official, who is acting in place of Brigham Young, Jr., stated that while he and all the Mormons believed polygamy to be right, yet as the United States Supreme Court had decided the anti-polygamy law Constitutional, the Mormon Church had adopted a rule against its practice in the United States and that all the Mormon converts abroad are so informed before embarkation for America. It is further stated that whenever the question was asked the converts were assured of the rightfulness of polygamy, but of the legal impossibility of its being practiced at present in the United States or Great Britain, also they must not go to America if they don't intend to obey the law and abstain from polygamous marriages.

The Cohensley Question.

Special to the Journal.

ROME, August 3.—The recent interview between President Harrison and Cardinal Gibbons created interest here as an indication of the importance attached in America to the Cohensley question. The Pope, Cardinal Simeoni and the Chiefs of the Propaganda have been much impressed with the declarations of the President. Tributes of the American Press to the wisdom of the Pope's decisions are also greatly appreciated. The Holy See sincerely regrets that the friends of Cohensley have spread the report that Rome placed obstacles in the way of his scheme. From the first, Propaganda declared to Cohensley that the Holy See would never accede to his demands for National Bishops. Cardinal Simeoni and Monsignor Persico both assert that the Cohensley scheme will never be accepted by Propaganda. "Never," they declare, "will it accord such prerogatives to immigrants. Cohensley committed a grave imprudence. We can never enter upon such a course."

Fought It Out With Knives.

Special to the Journal.

ST. LOUIS, August 3.—Antonio Gentiles and Marento Kieto fought a duel with knives in East St. Louis to-day. Gentiles' body now lies in the morgue. Both the killed and the slayer are Italians. They are brothers-in-law and both lived in St. Louis.

They went to East St. Louis this morning, each with a basket of lemons, and during the day quarreled over the sales. After a few words the men went to a secluded and vacant lot and fought it out with knives. A little son of the dead man, who accompanied his father, being the only witness of the duel. Kieto escaped.

An Old Feud Results in the Death of Six Men.

Special to the Journal.

LAKE CHARLES, La., August 3.—Yesterday at Lock, Moore & Co.'s steam road, an altercation between the employees took place in which ten men were shot, six of whom were killed outright and one mortally wounded. Three others are seriously injured but may recover. The difficulty took place about 20 miles from here and as the means of communication are very poor the full particulars were not learned, but it is known to be the result of an old feud.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 3.—The California Athletic Club Directors met to-night and decided to match Jim Hall and Bob Fitzsimmons for a purse of $6,000. Negotiations are now pending between the fighters and the club, and the match will probably be made.

Hall-Fitzsimmons to Fight in San Francisco.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 3.—A special to an evening paper from Chicago says Fitzsimmons and Hall have agreed to fight in the California Athletic Club for a purse of $6,000. President Fulda of the California Athletic Club said this evening that he had been telegraphing all day to bring about a match, and expected an answer to-night when it will be considered at a meeting of the club directors. The club wants a fight for this month.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind. "I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced."

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

THE WATER QUESTION.

A Correspondent Who Thinks No More Land Can be Cultivated Without Storage.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—In commentary upon an article in regard to the District system you call the attention of the Reveille to the fact that settlers are offered land in different parts of the State where they can locate without the formation of districts.

That is an essential, but how experience has shown that the safety line has been passed and that no more land can prudently be put in without increasing the water supply by storage. Even now after the heavy snow and rainfall of two winters it would be much cheaper and easier for the ditch owners to get water by raising a gate than by building wing dams in the river. Yours, A. B.

THE N. C. O. RAILWAY.

A Pleasant Trip to Amadee—A Large Country With Undeveloped Resources.

Last Sunday, through the courtesy of the management of the N. C. O. Railway, about sixty-five citizens of Reno and several from other parts of the State, including Governor Cohod, Hon. J. W. Haines of Genoa, Hon. E. T. George of Lander, Captain Griffin of Peavine, J. T. Davis of Mound House and Andrew Nicholls of Los Angeles, had a pleasant trip to Amadee, eighty miles north of Reno, the present terminus of the road. At 8:15 o'clock A. M. the train left Reno. Winding around the base of the mountains, forming a series of loops, but continually ascending, the road scales the summit of the water shed between the Truckee and Lemmons' Valley, six miles, as the crow flies, from Reno, but twice that distance by rail.

PEAVINE MOUNTAIN.

This ridge is a spur of Peavine mountain, which is situated to the west of the road. This mountain abounds in quartz veins carrying gold, silver and copper, some of which are now being developed with favorable prospects of paying their enterprising owners handsome revenues in the near future. At the foot of Peavine mountain, which is a spur of the Sierra Nevada, is

LEMMONS' VALLEY.

Which is estimated to contain about 20,000 acres of fertile land. There are several natural reservoirs in this valley, where the rains and melting snows in the Spring form lakes. These lake beds at this season of the year are covered with rank vegetation, which gives them the appearance of alfalfa meadows from the cars. This furnishes excellent feed for stock, and is said to be relished by cattle in the late Summer and Fall. Less than one thousand acres of the twenty thousand in the valley are now under cultivation, but as the dry lakes show the productiveness of the soil, and water can be conveyed to the valley from streams in the mountains, it is only a question of time until the whole valley will be under cultivation. From this valley the road runs a few miles through a rolling country into

LONG VALLEY.

This valley is about thirty miles long, and varies in width from a few hundred yards to several miles. To the west, where the road enters the valley, some fine ranches are seen. Purdy's Station, formerly Schooling's Switch, is also at this point. There are immense piles of lumber here, aggregating one and a half million feet, belonging to the Reno Mill and Lumber Company awaiting shipment to Reno. This lumber was from the forests which cover the Sierra Nevada to its base at this point. The lumber is for shipment to Reno, about twenty-eight miles distant by rail. Coursing through the valley, which narrows almost to a canyon at places, the road runs by Evans or old Antelope, Dean's, Cutting's and Chat Robert's ranches to

BECKWITH PASS.

Here, at the celebrated gap through the Sierra Nevada, known as Beckwith Pass, is Chat Station, so-called in honor of the noted pioneer, Chat Roberts. The pass is said by surveyors to be the lowest in the great Sierra Nevada range. From this point a narrow gauge road was laid out through the pass to take supplies from the N. C. O. to the inexhaustible sugar pine forests and iron mines of Sierra and Plumas counties, California. Thirty miles of this road was graded, and thirteen miles of it completed, but in consequence of litigation it has practically been abandoned. Sierra Valley is reached through this pass, and the farmers bring the articles which they produce for export to Chat, whence they are shipped to Reno by the N. C. O. Last year over three hundred tons of butter was billed at this station for Reno merchants.

FINE FARMS.

Proceeding north the valley widens. On the west the Sierra Nevada, covered from base to summit with pine timber, rises gradually. On the east another range bounds the valley, on which a few stunted junipers struggle for existence. On the west, at the base of the Sierra Nevada, the valley is dotted with farm houses, and fields of golden grain now ready for the reaper please the eye, while east of the road the everlasting sagebrush covers the plain and disputes with the stunted junipers the right to the mountain which bounds the valley on that side. Among the thrifty ranches in this section are Remington's, Forsythe's, Miller's, McNamara's, Farley's, Rosa's, J. M. Rhodes' Rowland's, McKisick's, Doyle's, Steinberger's, Ferris' and M. Rhodes'. On some of these ranches there are over two thousand acres of land under cultivation, and thousands of tons of hay are produced in the valley, besides large quantities of grain. In 1890 there were ninety-four earloads—940 tons—of apples shipped by the N. C. O. from the orchards in this and Honey Lake Valleys to Reno, thence as far east as Ogden, west to San Francisco, and south to Keeler on the Carson & Colorado Railroad.

AT AMADEE.

From Chat the road runs almost due north in an air line through Long Valley to Honey Lake Valley, one in reality being a continuation of the other, to Amadee, the present terminus of the line. At this place, which is on an almost level plain, there are several boiling springs within a few hundred yards of each other. The water as it boils out of the earth has a temperature of 205 degrees Fahrenheit, which is as high as heat will raise the temperature of water at that altitude.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

The springs, heated in Nature's laboratory, have great medicinal properties, which, when generally known, will make Amadee a great health-seeking resort. Some years ago the Pierson family took refuge behind some rocks formed on the plain by the minerals held in solution by the waters of the springs and were mercilessly murdered by the Indians, who were then on the war-path.

HONEY LAKE.

This lake, which at present is within two miles of Amadee, is about twenty miles long and from six to eight miles wide. The early settlers say it derived its name from honey dew, which coated the willows and tules along its shores, and which the Indians gathered and used as sugar. It is fed by Susan river and other streams from the adjacent mountains, and like the lakes of Nevada, has no outlet. In early days, when the summit of the Sierra Nevada was generally considered the eastern boundary line of California, not only Honey Lake, but nearly all of what is now known as Lassen county, was known as Lake county, Nevada, and was represented in the Nevada Legislature by Isaac Roop, who was Provisional Governor of Nevada Territory when it seceded from Utah, of which it was originally a part.

ARTESIAN WATER.

Within a mile and a half of Amadee, on the sagebrush-covered plain, Dr. T. H. Grindley of San Francisco, who owns a large tract of this desert, has just completed an artesian well. Flowing water was struck at a depth of 254 feet. At about 30 inches from the surface of the plain the discharge from this well is about four miners' inches, though it was variously estimated by experts, who endeavored to measure it at from 3½ to 8 inches. The temperature of the water is 78 degrees. In the short time since its completion the water, notwithstanding the excessive evaporation at this season, has spread over a large area, proving conclusively that it does not require much water to thoroughly saturate the soil. Another well is being sunk about two miles from the flowing one, and doubtless many others will be sunk in the valley should the experiment of using the water for irrigation prove a success.

GREAT POSSIBILITIES.

North of the present terminus of the N. C. O. there are large settlements. Susanville, the county seat of Lassen county, is 26 miles in that direction, and Surprise Valley, in which Fort Bidwell is situated, is still further away toward Oregon. There are also the towns of Eagleville, Beiber, Cedarville and Alturas. On the west side of the lake are Milford and north of it Janesville, both centers of prosperous farming communities. Doubtless the road will be extended north to Oregon at some future time, but for the present the terminus is at Amadee.

HOSPITALLY TREATED.

The officers of the road are E. J. Gast, General Superintendent, J. M. Fulton, Master of Transportation, Frank Lewis, Accountant, A. J. Chalmers, Chief Engineer. The train on which the party rode to Amadee was run by Engineer Smith and Conductor Taylor, and a vote of thanks was unanimously tendered the whole management for the courteous and hospitable manner in which they treated their guests on the trip, and the hope was expressed that the various resources of the country may be speedily developed so that the N. C. O. will have to run a dozen trains a day to accommodate its patrons.
